
Complete 2020 histories. Bar labels are household counts. Grey bar: never positive (excluded from the ascertainment denominator). Most reference-positive households are positive in only one to three of six windows, which is why sparse screening misses them.